

"It's not easy getting back to fighting-fit. But Britney's really doing it," says Robert Baker of Millennium Dance Complex, where Spears (on April 26) dances daily and brings sons Sean and Jaydan—who have been shuttling between Mom's and Dad's for sleepovers.

... But No Stylist?

Fur-ocious? Spears put together her own outfit on April 21 in L.A. "She is not using anyone right now," says her latest stylist, Britt Bardo.

Heading to dance class at L.A.'s Millennium Dance Complex April 28, a newly fit Spears left little to the imagination.

HER REHAB BUDDY!

It's a new chapter for Spears' love life too, thanks to her fellow Promises alum, singer Howie Day, 26. One friend denies the duo dated during her February stint at the Malibu, California, rehab center, insisting, "they played tennis, that's it," but another insider says things have turned romantic: "Britney really likes him. He gets her." The pair were certainly in sync April 28. After hitting L.A. clubs Bridge and Teddy's, a source says, they spent the night at her Beverly Hills home. Day's uncle, Malcolm Hardy, tells Us he approves: "I hope together they'll do some wonderful things for this world."

"He's a good person," Hardy tells Us of Day (in L.A. April 28).

With reporting by Leslie Bruce, Perrilla Cedenoheim, Ian Drow, Gabe Guarente, Susan Jack & Aili Riley

SPEARS: CHRIS COOPER/RETNA; SPEARS (THIS PAGE): GUY LAWRENCE/RETNA; DAY: ANDREW HUNTER/RETNA; HARDY: ANDREW HUNTER/RETNA; BRITNEY SPEARS: GUY LAWRENCE/RETNA; HOWIE DAY: ANDREW HUNTER/RETNA; MALCOLM HARDY: ANDREW HUNTER/RETNA